INTRODUCTION

Seagull Maritime operates across multiple jurisdictions and engages with a wide range of clients, suppliers, partners, and personnel globally. As a provider of armed maritime security services, the Company is subject to stringent international sanctions compliance obligations.

This policy sets out Seagull Maritime's commitment to full compliance with all applicable sanctions regimes and establishes the framework for how sanctions screening is embedded in Company operations, client vetting, supply chain due diligence, and personnel engagement.

Compliance with this policy is not optional. The consequences of a sanctions breach – for the Company, for individuals, and for any party that engages with the Company – can be severe, including financial penalties, loss of operating licences, reputational damage, and personal criminal liability.

SCOPE & DEFINITIONS

This policy applies to:

- All employees and staff
- Privately Contracted Armed Security Personnel (PCASP) deployed on client vessels
- Security Escort Vessel (SEV) crew operating in West Africa
- Contractors, subcontractors, and agency personnel
- Consultants and any individual representing the Company

Hereafter referred to as "personnel" for the purposes of this policy.

It applies to all commercial relationships, client engagements, supplier selection, vessel deployments, subcontractor vetting, personnel recruitment, and payment processing.

Sanctions Policy

For the purposes of this policy:

"Sanctions" means economic, financial, trade, or targeted restrictive measures imposed by sovereign governments, supranational bodies (UN, EU), and multilateral organisations to achieve foreign policy or security objectives.

"Sanctioned Party" means any individual, entity, vessel, or jurisdiction listed on an applicable sanctions list, or owned or controlled by such a party.

"Designated Jurisdiction" means any country or region subject to comprehensive sanctions – for example, North Korea, Iran, Syria, Cuba, and the Crimea region.

"Screening" means the process of checking names, entities, vessels, and relationships against applicable sanctions lists before engagement.

"Hit" or "Potential Match" means a screening result suggesting a possible link to a Sanctioned Party.

RESPONSIBILITIES

All personnel are responsible for alerting the Group Compliance Director if they become aware of any potential sanctions concern, whether relating to a client, a supplier, a vessel, a counterparty, or an individual.

The Group Compliance Director owns this policy, maintains the sanctions screening infrastructure, makes screening determinations, and escalates material hits to the Chief Executive Officer.

Commercial and Operations teams are responsible for submitting all new engagements – clients, suppliers, contractors, SEV providers, vessel clients – through the screening workflow before any commitment is made.

The Chief Executive Officer holds ultimate accountability for Company sanctions compliance and is the escalation point for material hits or unresolved concerns.

OUR COMMITMENT

Seagull Maritime commits to:

- Zero engagements with Sanctioned Parties or in Designated Jurisdictions without specific written legal advice
- Full compliance with applicable sanctions regimes, including US (OFAC), UK (FCDO / OFSI), EU, and UN
- Screening of all new clients, suppliers, subcontractors, and vessels before engagement
- Ongoing re-screening of active engagements on a periodic basis
- Transparent reporting of hits, near-matches, and concerns to applicable authorities where required by law

Sanctions Policy

APPLICABLE SANCTIONS REGIMES

The Company routinely screens against the following primary sanctions lists:

- OFAC SDN – US Treasury Office of Foreign Assets Control, Specially Designated Nationals List (https://sanctionslist.ofac.treas.gov/)
- UK Sanctions List – FCDO unified UK Sanctions List (https://sanctionslist.fcdo.gov.uk/), consolidating the prior OFSI Consolidated List withdrawn 28 January 2026
- EU Financial Sanctions File – Consolidated List of persons, groups, and entities subject to EU financial sanctions (https://webgate.ec.europa.eu/fsd/fsf)
- United Nations Security Council Consolidated Sanctions List (https://www.un.org/securitycouncil/sanctions/un-sc-consolidated-list)
- Relevant national sanctions lists in jurisdictions where the Company operates – including UAE, Malta, Nigeria, Greece, and the United Kingdom

Secondary screening includes the UN Committee 1267/1989/2253 (ISIL/Al-Qaida) consolidated list, country-specific frameworks, and sectoral sanctions where operationally relevant.

SCREENING REQUIREMENTS

Counterparties are screened against applicable sanctions regimes prior to engagement where sanctions exposure is identified. The trigger, method, and recording of screening sit with the responsible function – Commercial, Operations, Compliance, or the Compliance Administrator – proportionate to the engagement and the assessed risk.

Screening forms part of the engagement-review process for new clients, suppliers, contractors, and SEV providers, with internal checklists capturing the requirement where exposure is identified. The day-to-day operational workflow – first-line tool, triage forum, and escalation chain – is set out in SM/SEC/DOC/003 Sanctions Screening Operational Note.

Screening activity, hits, escalations, and determinations are retained in accordance with the Control of Records Procedure (SM/INT/PRO/005).

HANDLING OF POTENTIAL MATCHES AND HITS

Where a sanctions screening run returns no match, screening is recorded and engagement proceeds subject to any other due diligence obligations.

Where a screening run returns an obvious match – a clearly designated vessel, party, entity, or jurisdiction – the engagement does not proceed. The decision to decline can be taken at department or Compliance Administrator level, recorded, and notified on the Compliance group chat. Escalation to the Group Compliance Director is not required for clean-cut declines.

Where the screening result is contested, ambiguous, or where engagement would be commercially material despite a sanctions concern, the Compliance Administrator escalates the matter to the Group Compliance Director directly by email or message, with the screening result and context. The Group Compliance Director reviews the match context – name, entity, jurisdiction, ownership structure, and relationship – and either confirms the decline, refers to external legal counsel, or escalates to the Chief Executive Officer.

Where engagement is to proceed despite an identified sanctions concern, a written determination from the Group Compliance Director or Chief Executive Officer is required before proceeding.

Under no circumstances shall personnel proceed with such an engagement absent that determination.

RECORD-KEEPING AND AUDIT

All screening activity – including hits, near-matches, determinations, and final outcomes – is recorded and retained in line with:

- SM/INT/PRO/005 Control of Records Procedure
- SM/INT/REG/001 Document Register retention standards
- Applicable national record-keeping requirements (minimum 5 years, or as specified by law)

Records are made available for internal audit, external audit (including Libero, Shell, and client due diligence), and regulatory review as required.

SANCTIONS BREACHES

Any actual, suspected, or threatened breach of sanctions must be reported immediately to the Group Compliance Director. Personnel who become aware of a potential breach and do not report it may themselves be subject to disciplinary action.

Deliberate breaches of sanctions will be treated as gross misconduct and may result in immediate termination of employment or engagement, in addition to any regulatory, civil, or criminal liability that may arise.

The Company will cooperate fully with applicable authorities in any sanctions investigation, review, or enquiry. Personnel are required to cooperate with any internal investigation into a suspected breach.

REVIEW

This Policy is reviewed by the top management of Seagull Maritime at planned intervals (at least annually), or immediately upon material change to applicable sanctions regimes, relevant legislation, Company operations, or external legal guidance.

Regular review ensures that screening infrastructure, screening scope, and response protocols remain current and effective.
